Projects

- Study on usage of online payment apps among college students
  This study explains the differences between gender, course, age and online Payment apps. At the end of the study, it became clear that the majority of students prefer online payment apps. But a significant number of students have also pointed out notable shortcomings in online payment apps. By the suggestion of the students, we conclude that they must enhance the security guidelines of online payment applications. They must also improve their network strength for making payments even in rural areas.
